

MANUFACTURING UPDATE

Last month we notified you that the manufacturer we have been working with for several years had ceased operations and would no longer be supplying finished product to us or any of the several other companies doing business with them. At the same time we said that it was our full intention to move forward, establish new suppliers, and continue the production of new items as soon as possible.

We are pleased to tell you that we have selected and qualified new suppliers and have issued purchase orders for our initial production runs. Key InterMountain team members will be on site in the new factories in China during the week of September 24th to review assembly samples of initial projects, coordinate their production, establish quality standards and put shipping arrangements in place.

We hope soon to be able to give you more concrete information about the order in which projects will be completed and specific scheduling information. In the meantime, in order to have stock on hand as we come into the heart of the modeling season, please review and take advantage of the in-stock list available on our web site. We have a large stock of inventory on hand that will be of value during this interim period.
