FMC 5283 Boxcars Late Roof

Announced: July 26 Delivering: Summer 2025

Features: Etched Metal Cross-Over Platform, Sharp Painting and Lettering, Multiple Road Numbers, and InterMountain Metal Wheelsets.

When we researched the previously-announced group of FMC 5283 Boxcars in preparation for production, we discovered new opportunities to make these models even better. After reviewing additional blueprints, scanned slides, and photo angles that were previously unavailable, we're now looking at ways to extend the prototype accuracy of this model across all the prototype variations.

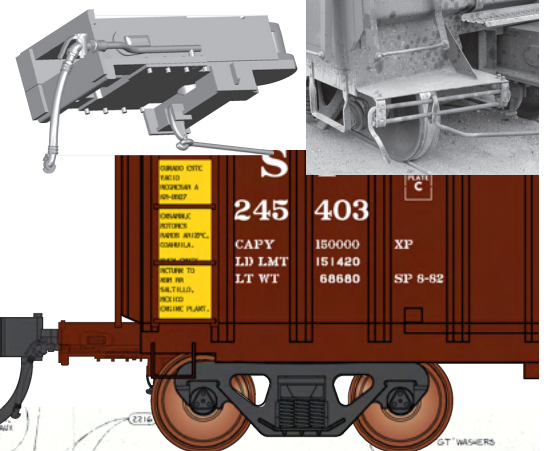

EARLY

LATE

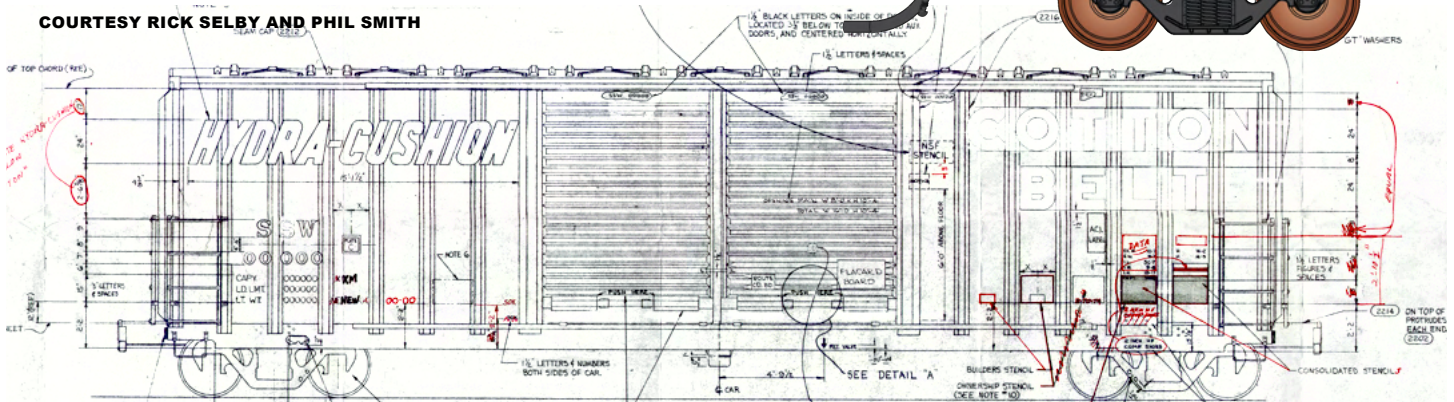

During review, we discovered there were additional roof and floor variations on the prototype fleet of cars. Looking at roadnames and SKUs outlined in the previous announcement, we also realized we were in a "half-and-half" situation; half the announced models possess these new features not currently reflected in our models, while the other half could be satisfied with existing tooling. With this announcement, we are shuffling the previously announced paint schemes to match current tooling. You can realistically divide the FMC 5283 boxcars into two groups: The Early cars ("X"-Panel roof with riveted seam caps) and Late cars ("X"-Panel roof with stamped/welded seam caps). The Late 5283 variant matches our existing tooling, and these will be in production first while we continue R&D on the Early roof variant.

NEW PARTS – We are including a new cushion coupler pocket and "trombone" style coupler cut bar for this latest production run across all railroads. The majority of 5283 boxcars were constructed with Hydra-Cushion underframes, and these new parts will compliment the existing underframe details on the models. We are also offering the Southern Pacific B-70-77 class which had a Keystone cushioning system. Cars with this unique-to-SP detail had a simplified paint scheme. Numerous members of the B-70-77 class were in assigned service to Saltillo Mexico via the NdeM hauling engine blocks, and will be represented with three road numbers. The B-70-77s were also repainted Golden West and lasted well into the UP era.

Access to additional photos and prototype painting documents also give us the opportunity to fine tune the art and body color for these new SP models, and we are also able to offer new railroad owned and lease paint schemes not available previously.

Interchange With the Allagash!

Mike Confalone's proto-freelanced Allagash Railway and shortline Oxford County look, feel and operate like real railroads. Set in the early spring of 1982 in rugged central and western Maine, the Allagash and Oxford County are popular with railfans who flock by the dozens to see First Generation Alco and EMD power hauling heavy tonnage over mountain grades and across scenic, rural vistas.

Serving Maine's paper industry, the AGR and OCTY work several large on-line mills hauling finished paper products and receiving inbound raw materials. They also receive shipments of bulk grain products for on-line mills and local feed dealers. The Allagash and Oxford County interchange with prototype regional carriers, making them an important link in the national rail network.

The Allagash and Oxford County freight car roster reflects both railroads' dedication to reliably servicing the needs of their customers. From shortline per diem box cars, to rebuilt and modernized 40' and 50' box cars for paper and pulp service, to more modern covered hoppers for grain service, the AGR and OCTY have an impressive fleet. For the modeler or freight car aficionado, it's a feast for the eyes.
